Project: Asian Bank
Location: Philadelphia, PA
Client: Asian Bank
Completion: February 2008
Value: $600,000
Architect: Blackney Hayes
Description: This 3,800 SF bank fit-out involved the demolition of the existing 6" slab and the pouring of a new 12" vault slab with 3 mats of #5 bar for security. Work included coordinating with local police and the Philadelphia Department of Streets to rig 9" thick vault panels into the space. The project overcame the challenge of completing the work within the demanding schedule of 2 ½ months so that the bank could open on time. Asian Bank is located on the first floor of Pearl Condominiums, a mixed-use residential project also completed by J.J. DeLuca.
